

For Immediate Release:
October 27, 2010

Contact: Jeff Marschner
202.547.5420

The Presidential Coalition Launches New Television Advertisement Against “Question A”, The Ambulance Fee In Montgomery County

The Presidential Coalition, an affiliate of Citizens United, announced a television advertisement today entitled “Scare Tactics,” that highlights the failed policies of Maryland Governor Martin O’Malley and Montgomery County Executive Ike Leggett and calls on Montgomery County voters to reject “Question A” the Ambulance fee.

CLICK HERE TO VIEW AD

Title: “Scare Tactics” TV (:30)

Announcer:	Out of control spending.
Announcer:	Busted budgets.
Announcer:	The largest tax increase ever.
Announcer:	Now big government politicians want more. Up to 800 dollars for emergency ambulance service. That causes higher health care premiums and higher taxes.
Announcer:	And career politicians threaten cuts in fire and rescue services if they don’t get their way.
Announcer:	Don’t fall for the scare tactics.
Announcer:	Reject failed politicians like Martin O’Malley and Ike Leggett.
Announcer:	Vote Against Question A, The Ambulance Fee. A Price We Can’t Afford.

###

PresidentialCoalition.com